How To Order New GSA Approved Security Containers

In their "Final Rule" document (2/10/25), GSA's Interagency Committee on Security Equipment (IACSE) published the following:

"Two methods a manufacturer can use to sell new GSA-approved security containers:

1. Through the GSA Global Supply procurement process.
2. Direct Purchase Authority (DPA). This process (see below) must be approved by GSA prior to the sale. It authorizes a sale directly between the GSA 'Approved Security Container Manufacturer and the industrial contractor indicated on the DPA approval letter signed by GSA."

"Any unauthorized sale by a manufacturer will result in suspension and disbarment"

OBTAINING A DPA (Direct Purchase Authority) FROM GSA

1. You, the Contractor, must submit answers to the following questions on your own letterhead and forward to Jeremy.Hensley@gsa.gov.
 - Company Name and point of contact for company or US Government Agency requesting the exemption.
 - Provide US Government Agency and Point of Contact for contract (name, email phone number).
 - NSN(s) and quantities.
 - Date you expect to order these containers.
 - Reason why your order cannot be placed through the GSA Website. (please expect to have a copy of your DD254's or an explanation of why they cannot be obtained).
2. Once approved, Jeremy Hensley will email you a DPA letter which you will need to have when ordering. Orders cannot be processed without this letter.
